Robot shirts you'll go nuts and bolts over

Kids' clothes, almost by definition, are adorable, but every now and again something comes along that's so incredibly off the hook like Robotcha shirts. These t-shirts with fun, quirky, robot-y designs are the brainchild of Shawn Hazen -- and his son Finn, who has a deep love of the mechanical guys. As you might have guessed.

Robotcha t-shirts combine robots with all the other stuff kids love like dogs, ice cream and rockets. The results? Designs like RoverBot, Ice Cream Scoop and AstroBots. Each shirt is made-to-order and the designs are made of a special rubbery material which is heat transferred so that the design won't crack when you put it through the laundry. (I hate when that happens.)

The glow-in-the-dark tees excited my 9-year-old to no end, and the adult sizes excited my 42 year-old to no end. Ah, kids and their robots. -Betsy
